

Grand Valley "Arts Economy" Cluster Analysis

from an analysis done in Arkansas

An idea for Council member Myrna Roberts' vision.

A cluster is a group of related producers, suppliers, distributors, activities and consumers that can draw advantages from their mutual relationships. The creative economy can shift emphasis due to time and circumstances and can afford a council with information to better allocate resources.

This Arts Economy Cluster does not deny that there are other clusters at work in a community.